

Provincial-Midway Championships

Eligibility

The Provincial-Midway Championships in 2023 are open to horses that are Provincial trained and/or under the care of a Midway eligible trainer.

Trainer

The trainer must:

- be licensed and operate from one of the five provincial racecourses or otherwise be licensed as a provincial trainer: or

Provincial Racecourses
Gosford
Hawkesbury
Kembla Grange
Newcastle
Wyong

- be a NSW metropolitan or provincial trainer and deemed eligible based on trainer's overall results under the Midway Scale for the applicable prior twelve-month period (refer to 2021/22 Midway conditions).

For the avoidance of doubt, horses trained in provincial and metropolitan regions outside of NSW are not eligible to compete.

Horse

Horses are eligible to contest the Provincial-Midway races if the horse has been under the continuous care of an eligible trainer with a current stable return lodged on or before midnight on 1 July 2022, being the eligibility date. The lodgement date of the stable return will be the sole determinant of the eligibility date.

Horses transferred to a Provincial or Midway eligible stable after the eligibility date are not eligible to contest the Provincial-Midway Championships, unless trained in the provincial region or in a Midway eligible stable prior to being transferred.

Location and Training of Horses

Whilst in training, from the eligibility date, the horse must remain located at the trainer's nominated training location and under the care of the nominated trainer. A horse that is spelled during the eligibility period must have a stable returned lodged advising the location of the said horse. The spelling of a horse will not render the horse ineligible for the Provincial-Midway Championships, provided it is immediately returned to the original nominated trainer when returning from the spell and the stable return amended accordingly.

Racing NSW the Sole Judge of Eligibility

Racing NSW will be the sole judge to determine eligibility to compete in the Provincial-Midway Championships.
